FOR RENT.

THE DESIRABLE AND WELL LOCATED STORE ON Main street, in the Gazette building. Apply to JOHN MURPHY, April 20, 1875. 17

CASH FOR YOUR EGGS!

I will pay the highest market price in cash for EGGS, delivered at my Picking House in Morristown, Main St., next door to D. Morris's old stand. JEHU MORRIS. Feb 17 1875-17

Balm.

To-day (Saturday 13th) the weather is mild and balmy. We hope all "Probs" will be right nice, and let things run on this schedule for a few weeks.

Joy! Another Boy!

Mrs. J. M. Bewley presented her husband a fine son Wednesday, February 18th, as an earnest of her sympathy for him in his joy over Johnson's election. We name him "Andy."

Local Option.

This subject is taking the right shape. We hope the wishes of the sober men and the ladies will be carried out. If a community wish licensed groceries, they then can have the privilege by voting for them.

Disgusted.

We hear it rumored that some of our young men concluded to work out a corporation fine by beating rock; but after Capt. Jaques's crusher came along and smashed a few, they quit the job in disgust.

School Officers.

The Loudon Times is rantanquerously rampant about the salaries paid the State and county Superintendents. Now, brother Nelson, will you tell us what is wrong in the matter, provided we can get efficient men?

Concert.

A Grand Moral Concert will be given at the Court House Friday night, next, by the young ladies and gentlemen of Morristown, for the benefit of the Baptist Church. Admission 50 cents; children half price. Tickets for sale at Earnest & Briscoe's, G. T. Magee's and Brown, Crowl & Co's.

Change of Church Connection.

Rev. J. Howard Smith, D. D., Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Knoxville, Tenn. has resigned, for the purpose of taking charge of the Reformed Episcopal Church of Newark, New Jersey. He is regarded by all Christian denominations in Knoxville as an earnest, able and evangelical preacher.

Our Exchanges.

Owing to the absence of the editor, no notice was given last week of the Jonesboro Journal. The first two numbers are fine specimens in every respect. We welcome the Journal to our exchange list, and hope it will prove a valuable auxiliary in developing the various interests of East Tennessee, and ever remain firm in defending the right politically.

Personal.

D. O. Fleming, Esq., political editor of the Jonesboro Democrat, was in town Saturday the 5th, and "dropped in" our sanctum to see us. He represents the Democrat as holding its own, notwithstanding the fact that Jonesboro now sustains three or more newspapers. He is the same "old Dave" of long ago, and supports a huge moustache late of the Birmingham cut.

TO OUR CONSTITUENTS.

We beg to call your attention to the following circular:

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Sept. 20, '74.
DEAR SIR:—Hereafter, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad Company will pass free both ways, all State Students of the East Tennessee University, whose pecuniary circumstances are such as to render this aid necessary to enable them to avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the University to obtain an education. All other State Students will have free fare on that road this way, and will pay their fare on it in returning home.

Yours Respectfully,
THOS. W. HENRY,
President East Tennessee University.

Parents or guardians among our constituents desiring appointments for their sons or wards will please communicate with us promptly. Senators are entitled, under the law, to make two appointments from their counties, and Representatives to three from their district.

J. C. HODGES,
J. O. STARNES.
Nashville, Jan. 12, 1875.

Genius and Labor.

(By a Student in Reagan High School.)

Genius and Labor are the two powers, and the only two that have, or ever will do things great and enduring. The Creator has planted genius here and there; but he has scattered the seeds of labor from pole to pole. Genius is the mountain torrent swelled by falling rain and melting snow; labor is the same, as it flows through the valley, when rain and snow have been succeeded by the heat of summer. Genius grasps the most complicated questions at a glance; labor begins at one end and slowly, and surely, winds its way to the other. Genius sees; labor reasons. Labor clears away forests, establishes principles, gives to the world the greater part of its happiness and prosperity; genius overturns dynasties, expirates nations, drenches the earth with blood. Genius takes the wings of morning and explores the depths of immensity with god-like power; creates new systems and sets them to revolving around their centres, "gives airy nothing a local habitation and a name," labor, standing on earth, brings the heavens down by the aid of reason, explains the laws that govern the planets, locates the stars and "calls them by their names." Genius has done much to gratify and amuse; labor has done more to benefit and improve. Genius rears and embellishes the lofty palace, labor constructs the humble cottage, though the works of the former are more costly, they are not more useful than those of the latter. Genius may claim the Iliad and Paradise Lost, but labor boasts that she discovered gravitation and brought lightning from the clouds. Labor is the common heritage of all; genius is the possession of the few. Genius has been a blessing to some, a curse to many. Labor shows her beneficence on her votaries, enlists in their behalf the respect and homage of their fellow men, and prepares them for the enjoyment of the goods of life.

DIED.

In Morristown, Tennessee, Feb. 11, 1875, at the residence of his son, John E. Helms, WILLIAM SPENSER HELMS, aged about eighty years.

He was the youngest son of Rev. John and Elizabeth Helms, and was born in Fincastle, Botetourt county, Virginia, in the year 1794 or '95. Mr. HELMS came to this country many years ago, and settled in Knoxville, where he has lived ever since, except a few years at Nashville, and one year at Morristown.

The deceased was, for years, a member of the Methodist Church. He was an affectionate father and grandfather, deeply interested in the welfare of his sons and grandchildren.

Although permitted to live longer than most of his fellow-men, his loss is none the less deeply mourned by his friends. They have consolation in believing that the corruptible has put on incorruption, that mortal has put on immortality, and that "Death is swallowed up in victory."

His remains were taken to Knoxville and deposited in Gray Cemetery, by the side of his wife, who died twenty three years ago.

The funeral services, conducted by Revs. T. W. Humes, D. D. and W. E. C. Cunningham, D. D., took place at St. John's Church, Sunday at 2 o'clock, p. m.

Grant's Special Message on Arkansas Affairs.

SPECIAL MESSAGE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The following is the President's message on Arkansas affairs:

To the Senate of the United States:—

Herewith I have the honor to send, in accordance with the resolution of the Senate of the 3d instant, the information in my possession not heretofore furnished relating to the affairs in the State of Arkansas. I will venture to express my opinion, that the testimony shows that in the election of 1872, Joseph Brooks was lawfully elected Governor of that State. That he has been unlawfully deprived of the possession of his office since that time, that in 1873 the Constitution of the State was violated, intimidation and revolutionary proceedings overthrown, and a new Constitution adopted, and a new State government established. These proceedings, if permitted to stand, practically ignore all rights of minorities in all States. Also, what is there to prevent each of the States recently reconstituted by Federal action on certain conditions from changing their Constitutions and violating their pledges, if this action in Arkansas is acquiesced in? I respectfully submit whether a precedent so dangerous to the stability of the State Government, if not of the National Government also, should be recognized by Congress. I earnestly ask that Congress will take definite action in this matter, to relieve the Executive from acting upon questions which should be decided by the Legislative Branch of the Government.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT.

Executive Mansion, Feb. 8th, 1875.

Amusing.

The Jackson Courier-Herald tells the following anecdote: It was Sunday morning; a large congregation had gathered for hearing preaching. The young minister had just arrived, and with him came a colporteur, amply supplied with religious books to sell the pious. Just before service commenced, the colporteur requested the young preacher to announce at the conclusion of his sermon that he, the book agent, was there and prepared to let the congregation have a variety of religious works, at exceedingly low figures. This the young preacher agreed to do. Now, mind you, this venerable book agent was quite deaf, and the infirmity had gotten him into many an awkward scrape. Well, service commenced, the discourse and closed with earnest appeals to sinners. After his peroration he descended from the pulpit, and standing within the altar said: "All that have children to be baptized, will please bring them here to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock and I will baptize them. Right here the deaf agent, thinking that the minister was announcing his presence with great earnestness, and that I will add, that those of you who are not supplied will please call on me as soon as possible and I will furnish them cheap." The scene that followed beggars description.

FOREIGN NEWS.

MADRID, Feb. 15.—Alfonso has arrived. Marquis de Molins, Minister of Marine, goes as Ambassador to France. Conovas dei Castillo succeeds Molins.

SANTANDER, Feb. 15.—Bazaine is gone, the Madrid police had to protect him from violence and insult upon his departure.

The Alfontists have fallen back; the Carlists have been reinforced. Bilbao is threatened.

PARIS, Feb. 12.—A Carlist telegram says Mariones is separated from the army of the North and blockaded in Pamplona.

All the Ministers, except Latour, request MacMahon to remain until after the crisis on the constitutional bills. Done seriously ill.

No change in the political situation. No one is willing to undertake to form a new Cabinet until the constitutional bills are acted upon.

France.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—A special from Paris says the greatest uneasiness prevails in that city in consequence of the grave political situation. The Chamber cannot make a Constitution, and will not dissolve. President MacMahon would have resigned if the Senate bill had been passed as amended. The Bonapartists gain greatly by these complications. The Republicans will make no further concessions.

Spain.

BAYONNE, Feb. 13.—Ex-Marshal Bazaine arrived at Santander yesterday. The French residents having asked for and obtained the permission of the authorities to serenade him, used the opportunity to hiss him and indulge in insulting cries. The crowd was dispersed by the police.

A Fight About a Name.

Two travelers on horseback once fell in company, and upon one being asked his name, he answered, "Lequex." The other was a storm brewing, and endeavored, by putting the accent on the last part of the name, and giving it the sound of the letter "q," to pacify his quarrelsome companion. But all to no purpose; for as long as there was the faintest sound of "lick" about it, he insisted on regarding it as a challenge, and they actually fought about it. The combatants were equally matched, and the result was a drawn battle. Lequex was satisfied with the result, and the other said, as they remounted, "I told you you couldn't."
